

Thirteenth Year, No. 20

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 6, 191

GLEICHEN EXHIBITION IS NOW GOING STRONGER THAN EVER

When one hundred farmers and business men of the Gleichen district get together and decide they will do a certain thing, one may at once put it down in capitals SUCCESS—for so it will be.

Many months ago over one hundred Gleichen farmers and business men got together and pledged themselves to do all in their power to make the tenth annual Gleichen District Agricultural Association exhibition a success—and a success it will be and no mistake.

For months past these men have been meeting regularly to work, plan, devise and scheme to bring this about, and one week from next Friday and Saturday—August 15 and 16—you will have an opportunity of judging just what these men have accomplished. There have been many difficulties to contend with this year, but they have been met and overcome. For instance, Superintendent of Fairs Galbraith wrote that many associations were cancelling their fairs owing to drouth, hail, etc., and wanted to know if Gleichen wanted to cancel ours. The secretary was instructed to inform Mr. Galbraith that Gleichen is going ahead harder than ever with the fair. That is the spirit that exists.

Local and District News

Edgar E. Rochon, of Ottawa, spent Sunday in town.

S. R. Kirby of Three Hills is spending a few days with his Gleichen friends.

You have something that will beat all creation. Bring it to the Gleichen Fair.

Have you filled up that entry form for the Fair? Send it to the secretary at once.

Despite drouth, hail and all other drawbacks Gleichen is to have a good Fair. Come and see.

W. W. Brown left to attend the big Liberal convention at Ottawa as the Gleichen delegate. He was appointed by Harry Scott as his proxy, who was elected the delegate at the Calgary convention. It is expected W. W. will be our next premier.

F. D. McNaughton, of Brooks, spent Sunday at the Palace, to observe all of the C. P. R. employees of Brooks and Bassano to attend the funeral of Mr. Hyde, of Cluny, who was one of the esteemed servants of the C.P.R.

Manager Griebach, of the Opera House announces that the Yorke Film Corporation will present everybody's favorite, Harold Lockwood, in "Lend Me Your Name," five act Metro all star series play. From the popular novel of the same name by Francis Perry Elliott on Saturday evening August, 9th.

Some estimate that the recent hail storm damaged crops to the extent of half a million dollars throughout the district it passed over. This is a hard blow to some of our farmers, especially those without insurance. The rain, however, accomplished great good and most of those hailed will have considerable green feed.

Sunday evening a heavy rain set in and continued almost continuously until about 10 o'clock Monday morning, which was general throughout Southern Alberta, with the result that is estimated the hay and feed crops will be nearly double that anticipated a few weeks ago. Since then there has been many local showers.

The rain Sunday night was accompanied by sharp lightning, great thunder and hail. The hail is reported to have done considerable damage in the Blind Creek district, but an estimate is not present obtainable.

Many express the opinion that more rain fell Sunday night than fell during the previous two years.

Fill up your Entry Forms and Send Them in Early

At the last meeting of the Association the various committees reported so favorably on their work that it was thought there would be no necessity of another meeting before the fair unless new business comes up that the secretary deems sufficiently important to call a special meeting. This fact goes to show how earnestly each member is now working to fulfill his part and it is up to every man and woman who has the best interest of the district at heart to help by sending in exhibits and inducing their friends to do likewise.

Calgary Lady Secured to Judge Ladies Work

The Women's Institute requested the Association to pay the expenses of a judge from Calgary for the "Ladies Work", which was cheerfully granted, and for their benefit Classes Created for All Exhibits it was stated that suitable prizes would be awarded for any exhibits for which a class is not provided for in the prize list. The Institute ladies are arranging with a lady to act as judge who is recommended by Manager Richardson of the Calgary Exhibition.

Government Judges for Livestock

The Alberta Government is supplying judges for the live stock, which department promises to better filled than ever before.

Keen interest is manifested in the Farm Garden competition and six entries must be made to secure the prize.

A special committee of five is appointed to personally solicit exhibits and every member is requested to assist in this as much as possible.

2 Days Entirely on Fair Grounds

This year every feature authorized by the Association will take place on the Fair Grounds and from early morning Friday until mid-night Saturday there will be something to entertain and amuse the big crowds anticipated.

Mrs. E. A. Brown of London, Ontario, is visiting her Gleichen relatives.

J. Filkow, of Winnipeg, is a guest at the Palace for the next two weeks buying horses.

J. Siddall and wife spent last Friday in town on their way to accept a position with Chris Bartsch. Mr. Siddall was in the employ of Geo. Matthews about two months ago.

F. W. Hess, of the Revelstoke Lumber Co., was a guest at the Palace on Sunday, being accompanied with District Superintendent McKenzie and Messrs Bowman, of Minneapolis.

S. J. Milliken left last Tuesday for Medicine Hat where he is building a dipping vat, for W. McLellan. He states when he gets back he is going to install a distilling vat for Gleichen to save buying prescriptions by instructions from Neil.

G. E. Hyde Passes Away

On August 1st one of the best known citizens of this district, Mr. George Edwin Hyde, passed away at his late residence, at the Alberta Nurseries, Ltd., at Cluny.

His high qualities, his cheerful disposition and his kindness to all who had ever occasion to meet him made him dear to all of us, he was one of the few people who had friends only.

Mr. Hyde died at the age of 58 years and one day after prolonged illness and leaves a widow and one daughter to mourn their great loss. Mrs. Hyde and daughter have the deepest sympathy of the whole community.

The many and beautiful flowers dedicated were the token of the esteem in which the deceased and family are held by their friends. We name especially the lovely pillow from the Sunday School for their respected and beloved superintendent, other donations by Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Misses Allen and Manby, Messrs Palmer and Grant, the employees of the Engineering Department of the Department of Natural Resources, Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton of Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Ridley of Strathmore, Mr. Chas. She might have ended the sentence in a way that would have come much closer to him, and been much truer, but conventionality had been bred into her for generations and she did not find it possible yet freely to speak the truth. Indeed, as she thought of her position here it seemed to her she had become shamelessly unconventional. She thought of her mother, careful, correct, "All ways be correct, my dear," — and wondered what she would say could she see her only child on these wild, unchaperoned rides and in these strange confidences where she was a girl and Dave was a boy and all the artificialities with which society aims to protect itself had been stripped away. There was a dash of adventure which added to the relish of the situation.

"It's such a wonderful life," she continued. "One gets so strong and happy in it."

"You'd soon get sick of it," he said. "We don't see nothing. We don't learn nothing. Reenie, I'm eighteen, an' I bet you could read an' write, better'n me when you was six."

"Did you never go to school?" she asked, in genuine surprise. She knew his speech was ungrammatical, but thought that due to careless training rather than to no training at all.

"Where'd I go to school?" he demanded bitterly. "There ain't a school within forty miles. Guess I wouldn't have went if I could," he added as an afterthought, wishing to be quite honest in the matter. "School didn't seem to cut no figure—until jus' lately."

"But you have learned—some?"

"Some. When I was a little kid my father used to work with me at times. He learned me to read a little, an' to write my name, an' a little more. But things didn't go right between him an' mother, an' he got to drinkin' more an' more, an' just makin' hell of it. We used to have a mighty fine herd of steers here, but it's all shot to pieces. We don't put up hardly no hay, an' in a bad winter they die like rabbits. When we sell a bunch the old man'll stay in town for a month or more, blowin' the coin and leavin' the debts go. But I've been fixin' him this year or two. I sneak a couple of steers away now an' then, an' with the money I keep our grocery bills paid up, an' have a little to rattle in my jeans. My credit's good at any store in town," and Irene, thrilled to the note of pride in his voice as he said this. The boy had real quality in him. "But I'm sick of it all," he continued. "Sick of it, an' I wanna get out."

"You think you're not educated," she answered, trying to meet his outburst as tactfully as possible. "Perhaps you are not, the way we think of it in the city. But I guess there's a good many things you can't learn out of books, and I guess you could show the city boys a good many things they don't know, and never will know."

For the first time he looked her straight in the face. His dark eyes met her grey ones, and demanded mean that?"

"Irene," he said, "do you 'Sure I do," she answered. "College courses, and all that kind of thing; they're good stuff all right, but they make some awful nice boys—real live boys, you know—into some awful dead ones. Either they get the high-brow and become bores, or the swelled head and become cads. Not all, you know, but lots of them. And then when they get out they have to start learning the real things of life—things that you have been learning here for ever so long. My father says about the best education is to learn to live within your income, pay your debts, and give the other fellow a chance to do the same. They don't all learn that in college. So when they get out they have to go and work for somebody who has learned it, like you have. Then there's the things you do, just like you were born to it, that they couldn't do to save their lives. Why, I've seen you smash six bottles at a stretch, you going full gallop, and whooping, and shooting so we could hardly tell which was which. And ride—you could make more money riding for city people to look at than most of those learned fellows, with letters after their names like the tail of a kite, will ever see. But I wouldn't like you to make it that way. There's more useful things to do."

He was comforted by this speech, but he referred to his accomplishments modestly. "Ridin' an' shootin' ain't nothin'," he said.

"I'm not so sure," she answered. "Father says the day is coming when our country will want men who can shoot and ride more than it will want lawyers or professors."

"Well, when it does, it can call on me," he said, and there was the pride in his voice which comes to a boy who feels that in some way he can take a man's place in the world. "Them is two things I sure can do."

Years later she was to think of her remark and his answer, consecrated then in clean red blood.

They talked of many things that afternoon, and when at last the lengthening shadows warned them it was time to be on the way they rode long distances in silence. Both felt a sense which neither ventured to express, that they had travelled very close in the world of their hopes and sorrows and desires. Perhaps, as they rode along the foothill trail, they were still journeying together down the long, strange trails of the future; dim, visionary, exquisite trails; rough, hard, cruel trails hidden in the merciful mirage of their young hopefulness.

The shadows had deepened into darkness, and the infinite silence of the hills hung about them as they dropped from their saddles at the Elden door. A light shone from within, and Dr. Hardy, who was now able to move about with the aid of a home-made crutch, could be seen setting the table, while Mr. Elden stirred a composition on the stove. They chatted as they worked, and there was something of the joy of little children in their companionship. The young folks watched for a moment through the window, and in Dave's heart some long-forgotten emotion moved momentarily at the sight of the good fellowship prevailing in the old house. Irene, too, was thinking; glimpses of her own butlered home, and then this background of primal simplicity, where the old cow-man cooked the meals and the famous specialist set the plates on the bare board table, and then back of it all her mother, sedate and correct, and very much shocked over this mingling of the classes. But the girl's reverie was cut short by a sudden affectionate licking of her fingers, and glancing downward she found Brownie, adopted early in her visit at the Eldens', expressing its fondness in the only fashion at its command.

The calf had been an incident in her ranch experience. It was a late comer, quite unable to keep pace with the earlier fruits of the herd, and had the additional misfortune to be born of an ambitious mother, who had no thought of allowing her domestic duties to impair her social relationships with the matrons and males of her immediate set. She had no place for old-fashioned notions; she was determined to keep up with the herd and the calf might fare as best it could. So they rambled from day to day; she swaggering along with the set, but turning now and then to send an impatient moo toward the small brown body stuck on four long, ungainly legs—legs which had an unfortunate habit of folding up, after the fashion of a jack-knife, upon unforeseen occasions, and precipitating the owner in a huddled mass on the ground. At rare times, when heaven must have stooped close about the herd, the mother instinct would assert itself, and the cow would return to her offspring, licking it lavishly and encouraging it with moanings of deep affection, but such periods of bliss were of short duration. The lure of "the life" was too great for her; she felt herself born for more important roles than mere motherhood, and she would presently rush away to her favorite circle, leaving her begotten to such fates as might befall.

It was on such an occasion, when left far behind, that one of the ungainly legs found its way into a badger hole. The collapse was harder and more complete than usual, and the little sufferer would have died there had he not been found by Dave and Irene in the course of their rides. Dave, after a moment's examination, drew his revolver, but Irene pleaded for the life of the unfortunate.

"Oh, don't kill it, Dave," she cried. "You couldn't kill it! Let's get the wagon and take it home. It'll get all right, won't it?"

"Never be worth a —," said Dave, checking his vocabulary in the nick of time. "Once they begin to give trouble you might as well knock 'em on the head."

"But it's cruel," she protested. "Just to kill it because it's hurt."

"I don't know about the cruel," he answered. "You see, they're all raised, every one of 'em, to be killed, anyway. Jus' like people, I guess. Sooner or later. But if your heart's set on this little critter, we'll save it 's long as we can."

So the calf was taken home and became Irene's special care. The mother was captured and tied up in the corral, and the calf, although lame, began to thrive and wax strong. It would gallop in its ungainly way about the yard, in its exuberance of youthful innocence, while the mother pined for the latest scandal from the great fields over the hills.

"Brownie, we'll call it," said Irene, "on account of its color."

"All right," said Dave, "on account of your sweater. That'll sort of show the connection."

So this night she rubbed its nose, and scratched its forehead, and then reproved its affection, which had a habit of running to extremes. And the mother cow moored from the corral, and Brownie forgot his benefactress and ambled away at the call of the blood.

If Germany Had Won

German High Command Had Decided to Control Belgium in Their Terms of 1917.

Copenhagen.—The control of Belgium and possession of Liege was the determination of the German high command in 1917. Chancellor Michaelis drew up a tentative plan for peace negotiations, incorporating in this the demand for Liege and adjacent territory and the economic union of Belgium with Germany. The chancellor, however, planned to hold Liege only provisionally, as a factor of security.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg was opposed to the giving up of Liege. He would hear of no talk of indemnities nor would he indicate Germany's intention to the enemy.

General Ludendorff, another of the high military authorities, was for keeping the entire Liege district in German hands. He advised strong military pressure and the driving back of the British and French armies. Only thus, he contended, could Belgium become economically and intimately connected with the Germans.

The German attitude was disclosed by declarations read by Premier Bauer before the Weimar assembly, when the peace overtures to Germany alleged to have been made by Great Britain and France through the Vatican in August, 1917, were again the subject of discussion.

Premier Bauer, prior to his reading of the declarations of Chancellor Michaelis, Von Hindenburg and Ludendorff emphatically asserted that the return of a monarchy in Germany would be impossible. He also declared that the former emperor would certainly be brought to trial.

Having made public these statements, the premier continued: "At the same time the so-called Fatherland party was formed, which supported the demands of the high command. It was the members of this party who supported the annexationists and drove the German people into destruction."

In the early part of the nineteenth century more than two hundred offences were punishable with death in England.

Employers Cannot Discriminate

If Labor Proves That There Were Honest Reasons for Winnipeg Strike.

Winnipeg.—Judge Robson, head of the royal commission to enquire into the causes and effects of the general strike, struck a new note in the investigation when he told a witness, A. F. Wood, that if Labor could prove the fact that the recent strike had been called solely on the demand of collective bargaining, he could not see that discrimination could be justified shown by employers. This demand, said the commissioner, had been conceded by the iron masters, the citizens committee and apparently by everybody except a few individuals, and employers could not withhold employment from a man if he admitted that the reason for the strike was just. Labor would have to prove that there were no other reasons back of the strike than that one principle of collective bargaining.

All witnesses testified to a general unrest that had been evident in Labor during the present year. The cause of the strike was placed on the high cost of living, which one witness blamed the government for permitting to exist. The profiteering was also mentioned as a cause of the strike. Witness Stevenson recommended the formation by the government of a permanent commission to adjust the differences between Labor and Capital.

Imperishable Deeds of War

King George's Address in Reply to Congratulations of Royal City of Empire.

London.—The King and Queen drove in state to the Guildhall to receive the congratulations of the corporation of London on the conclusion of peace. They were everywhere cheered along the route. The brilliant assembly on the platform at the Guildhall included the premier and other ministers, ambassadors, Admiral Beatty, Field Marshal Wilson, Lord Reading and other distinguished people.

Replying to the address, His Majesty, who wore the uniform of an admiral, contrasted the circumstances of his visit to the Guildhall a year ago, when it was impossible to foretell when victory would come or how much it would cost, with the situation today, Germany's fighting power destroyed and our terms accepted.

His Majesty incidentally expressed the sincere hope that the recent example at St. Paul's of several religious denominations joining for the purpose of expressing the nation's gratitude for peace might prove a step towards closer co-operation of religious communities for the spiritual life of the nation.

His Majesty paid a tribute to the imperishable deeds of the forces of the empire and the splendid services of the mercantile marine. The war had emphasized that the restoration of our overseas trade, the recreation of our mercantile marine and the development of our ports must be pursued energetically in order to regain our old supremacy.

Trade With The Enemy

May Be Warfare Again or in Time Become Civilized.

The haste of American and Allied traders to re-establish commercial relations with the Teuton, and the anxiety of the Teuton to reciprocate, with the fate of the late Kaiser's head still undecided, may seem gross and ugly to the tender-minded; but if trade is to be resumed at all the manner of its happening is inevitable. Business is quick and competitive.

The important matter is to know whether defeat in war has taught the Germans how to trade on fair and decent terms—how to distinguish, that is to say, between competition and conspiracy, between battle and murder. Their code of war was a perfect sublimation of their business code—Prussian; ruthless and oblivious. She is readmitted to commercial relations with a much wiser world than the one she fooled so long. It has learned that a nation cannot live by one code and trade by another. As people are so they trade.

Trade with Germany may be warfare again, as it was, or it may in time become civilized. That is for her to say.

Germany Begins To Re-Establish Trade

Offering Cutlery, Bicycles and Other Articles on French Market

Paris.—Germans, through their agents, and by circulars, are offering cutlery, bicycles and other articles on the French market 75 per cent. under French prices, according to a statement during the debate in the chamber of deputies.

Soldiers who have returned from the occupied regions of Germany, it was alleged, are calling on French merchants, and trying to sell them German jewelry, drugs, thermometers, cutlery and bicycles.

It was stated that some officers as well as soldiers are awaiting court-martial for engaging in this trade. Joseph Claussat, Socialist deputy for Sublieu Puy-de-Dome, declared that the military authorities were permitting commercial propaganda in France by the Germans, while the correspondence of the French merchants is still being subjected to control.

Paris.—In the chamber of deputies, M. Clementel, minister of commerce, explained that by reason of the rate of exchange, some German products could be sold at very low prices in France, but said this situation could not continue for long. French industry, he said, would improve with the stabilising of exchange, and with the better distribution of coal.

The minister made reference to the efforts that are in progress among United States bankers to afford long credits to French merchants. He said a French mission would shortly go to the United States to make known the needs of France in commercial credits.

Restrictions For Wheat Depots

Orders Issued By Board of Grain Supervisors for Canada

Winnipeg.—Certain restrictions in the unloading of wheat at Canadian elevators are set forth in two orders issued by the board of grain supervisors for Canada.

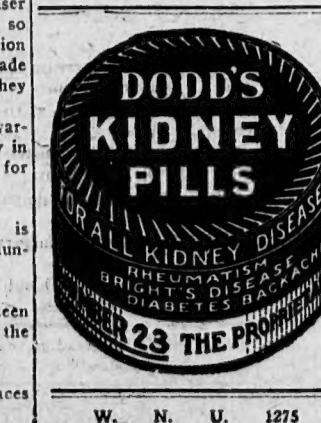

Order No. 97 states "that no licensed hospital elevators situated at Fort William or Port Arthur shall receive into their elevators any wheat of the following grades without a permit from the board of grain supervisors for Canada:

No. 1 Manitoba Northern, 2 Manitoba Northern, 3 Manitoba Northern, and 4 wheat.

Order No. 98 regulates "that no flour mill in Canada, west of the Great Lakes, shall receive into their mills any wheat without securing a permit from the board of grain supervisors for Canada."

Both orders are effective from July 26, 1919, inclusive, until further notice.

Industrial Fiber On Floor Of Sea

Whole Deposit Contains 4,500,000 Tons Dry Weight.

Adelaide, South Australia.—On the seashore of South Australia lies unused, and until lately almost unknown, a very large quantity of valuable fiber. It is calculated that the whole deposit contains 4,500,000 tons dry weight. All this comes from the growth in the shallow sea waters of that region of Posidonia Australis. This is not what is usually known as a seaweed, but is entirely of the nature of a flowering land plant, except for its habits of growing submerged in sea water. Its value comes from the fact that when its long, straw-shaped leaves wither, they remain round the stem as tufts or string-like threads. After a time a dense, matted bed of fiber forms on the sea bottom, and the whole colony gets higher and higher in the water as this bed gets thicker.

In some places the matted beds are seven feet thick and several square miles in extent, so that a fine potential industry is foreseen by the South Australian Government. Three large companies are already working at it, and markets are opening for its sale as insulating material for steam pipes and refrigerating plants.

German U-Boat Losses

Submarine Warfare Destroyed the Morale of the German Surface Navy

German U-boat losses were rigorously concealed during the war. The allied governments were also wary about publishing estimates of U-boat sinkings, since by the nature of the case it was difficult to establish the fact that a submarine, supposed to have been disposed of by a depth bomb, was actually destroyed.

Figures which recently appeared in Berlin show that the German submarine losses were startlingly high. One hundred and seventy-eight U-boats were destroyed by the allied fleets—eighty-two in the North Sea and the Atlantic, seventy-two off the coast of Flanders, sixteen in the Mediterranean, five in the Black Sea, and three in the Baltic. In addition, fourteen were blown up by their own crews and seven ran for safety into neutral harbors, where they were interned. The immense damage done to allied and neutral shipping in the course of the German submarine campaign could not be concealed; the world was greatly impressed by it.

It would have been less impressed if the real German rate of wastage had been known. This was, of course, hidden even from the German public—perhaps from the Kaiser and some of the military leaders. But what wasn't successfully hidden was the demoralization of the personnel of the German navy, caused by the constant drafting of men for submarine work. The sailors began to look on the U-boats as submerged coffins. They rose in mutiny in the summer of 1917, and Admiral von Scheer says that his plan for an attack on the allied fleet in the fall of 1918 was frustrated by a similar mutiny. The submarine warfare thus completely destroyed the morale of the German surface navy.

The revelation of German losses throws a new light on the problem of the submarine's offensive value. The U-boat was a nightmare for a time. But devices have been developed to reduce its terrors. As things stand, all naval policy is in a state of flux. The future is confused. The peace conference didn't outlaw the submarine. And it is safe to say that the airship now carries a greater potentiality of military frightfulness than the submarine.—From the New York Tribune.

Nationalization of Mines Still in Abeyance.

London.—Right Hon. Andrew Bonar Law stated in the house of commons that the committee on home affairs was not considering the nationalization of mines and that none of the statements in the press represented the views of the government in that regard. It was further hoped that an announcement would be made before recess.

Japanese to Visit Great Britain

Tokio.—Japanese newspapers announce that three brothers-in-law of Emperor Yoshihito will soon visit Great Britain, France and the U.S. for military inspection. They will stay abroad for about three years. The imperial travellers are Prince Kitashirakawa Asaka and Higashi Kuni.

Tourists See Ruins From Dirigible

Italian Navy Has Established Commercial Service for Visiting Rome.

Rome.—Tourists may hereafter visit Roman ruins, the Coliseum, Forum, Pantheon, Caracalla baths and the basilica of Constantine, St. Peter's and other Roman gems, not in antiquated horse drawn carriages, but in airships. The Italian navy has established a commercial dirigible service for visiting Rome and its environs from the air. The venture has met with complete success, for daily the aircraft are filled to capacity.

The correspondent saw Rome from the Italian navy's dirigible M-1. Historic Roman landmarks viewed from the air gave the eye an entirely different aspect of their beauty and form. The riches of Rome in hidden gardens could only be appreciated from above, it was agreed.

Looking at the Coliseum from the ground, it appears to be a circular mass of ruined grandeur. From the air, the elliptical proportions of the second greatest accumulation of masonry in history are pronounced.

The proceeds from the dirigible service are given to the Italian funds for those disabled in the war. Tea is served in mid-air, and letters accepted for postage.

London.—The Berlin newspapers say that the former German emperor has written to the archbishop of Posen asking him to preserve the Protestant chapel at Posen castle for Protestant services and not to convert it to Catholic uses. The former monarch said that it would be unbearable to him to have Roman Catholic services celebrated in the chapel into which he had put his whole soul, and in which he prayed for victory for Germany.

Westminster, Eng.—The Sex Disqualification-Removal Bill which has been introduced provides that an individual shall not be disqualified by sex from the exercise of any public function or from being appointed to any civil or judicial office or post or from entering or assuming any civil profession or vocation, and shall not be exempted by sex from liability to serve as juror.

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

Rural Motor Transport

The first rural motor transport in Western Canada was established this spring at Winnipeg, Manitoba, where a service is maintained which runs about forty miles out of this city. It is intended to extend this service, and with the general improvement of roads that is certain to be made during the next few years, similar services will no doubt be opened at other points in the country.

The Little "Bluebird"

Will Travel 22 Miles on a Gallon of Gasoline.

There are now, small aeroplanes, one called the "Bluebird," which has a wing spread of only 18 feet that will travel 22 miles on a gallon of gasoline. It can be built at a cost of $2,000, and is no more expensive for maintenance than a low-priced automobile. It can land on a country road or in a back yard. This machine only weighs 350 pounds, including the motor, it will carry an extra passenger or over 100 pounds of goods. These small planes, it is claimed, will be the average person's "Ford of the air." Each farmer will have one for his home, and for long distances he will take the mighty air cruisers plying on the regulated air streets. Rightly may we ask "Whither are we whithering?"

This generation will see a marvelous development. The momentum of progress increases from decade to decade as the range of knowledge increases for its basis. Tomorrow our exploits will be ancient history. We live the present, and each generation adds its quota.—The Northwest Farmer.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Comes When the Blood is Weak and Watery.

Thin blooded people generally have stomach trouble. But they seldom recognize the fact that thin blood is the cause of their indigestion, but it is.

Thin blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble; it affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. The first sign of returning health is an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood-making pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are strong and vigorous instead of irritable and listless. You are on the road to sound, good health and care in your diet is all you need. If your appetite is feeble, if you have any of the distressing pains and symptoms of indigestion you should begin to cure yourself at once by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

German Talk of Vengeance.

The following appeal addressed to the German people in the Deutsche Zeitung is regarded as characteristic of the views prevailing in German Conservative circles.

"Today a peace of shame is being signed in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles, forget it not! In the year 1871 the German Empire arose in its splendour; German honor is today being carried to its grave, forget it not! In unrelenting labor the German nation will again rise to regain for itself its place amongst the nations which is its due. Then, revenge for the indignity of 1919."

As a verminifer there is nothing so potent as Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

Canadians Are Delayed By Strike

London.—The strike of the dock workers at Liverpool caused a great deal of inconvenience and irritation to Canadians homeward bound where cases have evoked much sympathy. Fifteen hundred soldiers' wives and dependents who were on the Scotian and whom were held up for six days, were billeted in hotels and boarding houses. The Empress of Britain was sent to Glasgow. The officer commanding the waiting Canadian troops interviewed the dockers' union officials in an attempt to get the steamers released, but without avail.

Will Aviation Become Popular

Mechanical Flight Is Shown to Be Regular Subject in Colleges

London, Eng.—When the news of Hawker's rescue was called by the newspaper boys in the London streets on Sunday, May 25, the universal interest displayed in the eager rush to read the good tidings equalled some of the biggest days of the war; and one could not help speculating upon the measure of popular interest in flying in Great Britain. Hawker had not succeeded, nor was he the popular idol that Gustav Hamel was in the heyday of his success; Hawker could not be that, for during the war his name has scarcely ever been before the public.

Allowing for the adventurousness of his flight, it is obvious that the newspapers, in giving great prominence to aeronautical affairs, have correctly gauged public desire.

Mingling with the crowds, and overhearing their comments, one was amazed at the intelligence displayed, particularly by boys of all classes of society. Not a word was heard in condemnation of the foolhardy element in the attempted crossing of the Atlantic. Yet no more than eight years ago, when the writer was learning to fly, he was painfully aware of a very different attitude of the public. He has seen men gazing with unsympathetic eye at an aeroplane in flight, and has heard them refer to the airman with ignorant dislike. He has heard flying seriously condemned, on religious grounds, by apparently cultured and educated people. A complete change has taken place; and now even the solid man of business discusses flight in terms of respectful appreciation.

Even in the elementary schools flying is the subject of simple explanations; while in the secondary schools and the colleges and universities mechanical flight is now a regular subject. The universities of London and Cambridge both have chairs of aeronautics, and aeronautics is this year to be one of the optional subjects in the examination for the Bachelor of Science (engineering) Degree (London). Flight and ballooning are a long way first as space monopolizers in weekly and monthly magazines read by children and adults. The British boy of today, like his American contemporary, can tell you something about the reactions from the resistance of the air upon planes, and the way it is utilized as "lift"; and he is an exceptional boy if he cannot explain the rudiments of the internal combustion engine, and tell you the difference between the fixed and rotary types.

Yet for the present, to the great mass of the people, flying remains an unattainable experience. Even the facilities for obtaining flights on payment of the modest sum of ten shillings are not popular enough to enfranchise the great mass of the public. The working classes are restless, and are occupied by the closer problems of their welfare. The contrasts between the life of the rich and the life of the poor were never so insistently discussed as they are today. To a vast number of people the aeroplane must appear as merely another instrument of oppression and of class distinction; just as the motor car seemed 20 years ago, and the car of today still appears.

But even the Labor newspapers are now giving attention to the developments of flying, and some of the warmest messages of congratulation sent to Hawker on his return were from Labor leaders. In a great population there always is, unfortunately, a very big section intellectually inert, incapable of exerting the imagination, and having no interest beyond their more primitive physical needs; but this section is no more obtuse to mechanical flying than it is to the year's academy or to the settlement of Europe after the war.

We cannot see yet in what way flying can ever become popular in the sense that motoring is. The means have not been discovered. But 25 years ago much the same could be said of motoring. At that time it was proved, on paper, by experts, that the transportation of passengers and goods at cheap rates by automobile was out of the question, that the auto would never compete with the railway, and that a motor omnibus was an impossible proposition. In 10 years the price of a flight in an aeroplane has come down from five guineas to ten shillings, and the quality has, moreover, enormously improved. We cannot see the way; but it is not altogether unreasonable to suppose that, similarly, there will be what the French call a "vulgarization" of flying.

Sometimes a man is not satisfied with building his house on the sand but goes on and builds a garage on credit.

City Of Orphans Is Being Founded

Will Be Inhabited by Syrian Children Left Destitute by Turkish Massacres.

New York.—The City of Orphans is the name of a town in Syria, which will be inhabited by the Syrian children left destitute by the Turkish massacres and the ravages of war. Already the children are being brought together in temporary orphanages by the American committee for relief in the Near East.

Bayard Dodge, who recently returned from six years of relief work in Syria, said that even if the best and wealthiest government in the world took over Syria, it could not care for the orphans properly, since this is not so much a matter of relief as of reconstruction.

"The true horror of the famine in Syria," he said, "has been the moral breakdown. The horror of having thousands of neglected children growing up without homes or education, the victims of a demoralized environment, is awful to contemplate. In the small area of Syria for which I compiled statistics there are 349 villages, with 4,364 orphans and 9,688 children with only one parent."

Mr. Dodge outlined the plan of Dr. Stanley White and Maj. James H. Nichol, who have been in charge of local relief work by the Red Cross and the Near East committee. They intend to train a number of native children as farmers, mechanics, clerks, artisans, and industrial laborers, thus forming a nucleus for further educational work in the generation upon which will fall the responsibility of creating a new nation.

As far as possible the children will be trained as Syrians. The American influence will be strong enough to develop efficient management and high ideals, but not so strong as to breed dissatisfaction or lack of patriotism. The committee in Beirut hopes to limit the number of children to 5,000, to group them into small families with self-government, to teach them useful trades, and to bring representatives of different sects together.

A site will be chosen for the City of Orphans, small houses will be built so that they may be sold after 10 or 15 years, and American child experts, physicians and teachers will be obtained to direct the work.

Hong Kong Has Great Buildings

Some of the Finest Residences One Can Find Anywhere.

The Hong Kong Club is an institution famous the world over among travellers. It is one of the great sights of China. It is a British institution, organized by the British residents of Hong Kong, and, while it is exclusive, it is democratic. The bar, which is said to be the largest in the world, is arranged in festoon formation. Frequently it is patronized by hundreds, and almost every known drink is served there.

Hong Kong, while Chinese in architecture and in every way, has one part where a European or an American would have to rub his eyes for a moment to realize that he was not in London or New York. There are great buildings and magnificent hotels. Hong Kong has some of the finest residences one can find anywhere. Most of these are located on the cliffs facing the sea, and to build them great quantities of rocks had to be cut from out the sides.

Built Without Nails

In Alberta, there is a village whose houses have been constructed without nails. The houses were built by Ruthenian immigrants. The buildings are of the typical Ruthenian style—log, pitch-roofed, thatched and wide in the eaves. Even the door, an affair of slender twigs, woven and laced together, swings on homemade hinges and is latched with a wooden hasp. The floor is of hewn logs unnailed. The roof is a wonderful fabric of poles and cross-woven wheat-straw, 10 inches thick, packed tight and solid, and laid with such care that it will endure any weather for 20 years.

Industrial Congress Begins Next Week

From facts presented at the last meeting of the program committee of the Alberta Industrial Congress it was shown that there is a certainty of a good attendance at the congress from Eastern Canadian and American points. The committee completed plans for the big industrial gathering and appointed small committees to look after the several branches of the congress work for the week of gathering.

Those present at the meeting represented boards of trades of Calgary, Edmonton and Medicine Hat, as well as the Provincial Government and the Alberta Industrial Development Association. Among those present were Premier Stewart and C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, both of whom stayed at the meeting for a short time and heard of plans for the congress.

The itinerary for the special train was fixed. It will leave Medicine Hat at 8 o'clock on the morning of August 12, and it will leave Lethbridge at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, arriving in Calgary at 9 o'clock that evening. After the Calgary congress, the sessions of which are to take place at the Grand Theatre, the train will depart for Edmonton early on the morning of August 15. It will leave the capital city for Banff on the night of the 16th, arriving in the mountain resort at about 9 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, August 17.

Metric System a Money Saver

America's greatest educators are supporting the move made by the World Trade Club of San Francisco to secure the adoption of metric units of weights and measures by Britannia and the United States. "The adoption of the metric system by the United States would facilitate teaching of mathematics and applied sciences in schools," wires President Emeritus C. W. Eliot of Harvard University. Pres. N. W. Butler of Columbia has also sent World Trade Club a telegram of support. Dr. Joseph V. Collins, an eminent educator, declares that the people of the United States lose $314,000,000 yearly in education because of time wasted in teaching a system so much more complicated and difficult than the metric system.

Britain's Expenses Reach Huge Total

London. — A question asked in the house of commons brought forth a statement from J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, that the average expenditure of the country during the period from April 1 to July 26, was nearly £4,500,000 daily.

Laming Worthington Evans, minister of pensions, in giving the house an explanation on the pension situation, said that at the present rate the pensions would amount to £96,000,000 sterling in a full year. Sir Laming announced a new scale of pensions for totally disabled single men of 40 shillings weekly, and for married men, 50 shillings weekly, being an increase respectively of 7 and 17 shillings on the previous scale. Proportionate increases, Sir Laming declared, were to be given for children, widows and other dependents of soldiers.

Norway May Have Spitzbergen

Russia Is Willing That Spitzbergen in Arctic Be Given to Neutrals.

Paris. — The Russian political commission in Paris has advised the peace conference which is considering the disposition of the Spitzbergen Archipelago, which lies in the Arctic ocean between Franz Josefland and Greenland, that the Russians are willing to have Spitzbergen given to Norway. The belief is expressed by the Russians, however, that it will be necessary to have an international convention for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons of various nations having property there.

London Cheered Great Dirigible

London. — The giant British dirigible R-34, which landed at Pulham, Norfolk, on July 13, after making the first trans-Atlantic dirigible flight, left there for East Fortune, Scotland, the point from which it started for the United States.

The R-34 circled over London at a low altitude during the trip, and was seen and cheered by excited crowds.

Government Plan For Marketing Crop

Ottawa. — The government has finally determined its policy in regard to this year's wheat crop. The main features of the plan are:

1. A board to buy and market the crop of 1919.
2. A cash payment on account to be made to the farmer at the time he sells his wheat.
3. The wheat crop of Canada to be sold by the board at the prevailing world prices, and the surplus proceeds, after expenses are deducted, to be distributed to the original sellers of the wheat in proportion to grade and quantity.

4. No speculation on exchanges of profiteering by handlers of the wheat crop of 1919 to the disadvantage of either producer or consumer.

5. A direct and immediate cash sale by the farmer and a speedy movement of the crop along the usual channels of transport.

The personnel of the board will be made known very shortly, as also will the initial cash payment to be made on account to the farmer at the time of the sale of his wheat.

The official statement reads:

The peculiar conditions of the wheat market in Europe and the U.S. where government agencies are almost exclusively employed and where government credits have to be provided for the purchase of wheat, rendered it necessary to provide a similar agency in Canada, or to run the risk of being faced with an absence of adequate cash markets for Canadian wheat and a speedy and uniform movement of the same.

The government, after very careful enquiry and consideration, has therefore decided to appoint a board of experienced men invested with adequate powers to conduct the purchase and sale of the Canadian wheat crop of 1919, both for export and domestic purposes.

An additional cash payment by way of advance will be made by the board to the farmers for each bushel sold, based on the price of No. 1 northern at Fort William. At the conclusion of the season's sales, after the deduction of necessary expenses, the total excess realized over and above the first payment made to the farmers will be divided among the original

To Save German Navy

Ready to Be Salvaged from Deep Sea Says British First Lord of Admiralty.

London. — The battleship, three light cruisers and fifteen destroyers of the former German grand navy, which were scuttled by their crews at Scapa Flow in the Orkney islands on June 22, are ready to be salvaged, it was said in the house of commons by Walter Hume Long, first lord of the admiralty.

Mr. Long said work was proceeding on three other destroyers. He said there was no intention of holding a court of enquiry.

American Record for Aerial Height

Minneapolis. — Although failing to establish a world's altitude record, Roland Rohlf, civilian aviator, flying a Curtiss wasp bi-plane, set a new American mark when, in an official flight from Roosevelt Field, he reached a height of 30,700 feet, according to the figures on his barograph. The world's record is 33,136 feet, made by Adjutant Casale, of the French army in a flight from Villa Coublay last June.

Peace Proposals Not Given Lenine

London. — Assertions by Liberal papers that Sir Phillip Kerr, secretary to Premier Lloyd George, had given a memorandum of peace proposals for the Bolshevik Premier Lenine, to Wm. C. Bullitt, attached to the United States peace delegation were answered in the house of commons by Andrew Bonar Law, government leader, with a denial.

Mr. Bonar Law said that Mr. Lloyd George did not know of Bullitt's mission to Russia until Bullitt returned and he denied that the British premier had given Bullitt any such memorandum.

If you can't do anything else, you can at least keep out of the fellow's way.

Tornado Swept New Brunswick

Considerable Damage Done to Buildings and Wire Service by Wind.

Frederickton, N.B. — Considerable damage has been done by an electrical storm and wind, which swept over New Brunswick and reached the proportions of a tornado.

In Carleton county, by Florenceville and Centreville, eleven barns were razed by the tornado, while at East Florence, the warehouse of B. F. Smith and Company, Limited, a building about 100 feet in length, was smashed and blown to bits. Fifteen or twenty trees in its path were uprooted and telegraph, telephone and electric light poles were blown over by the tornado, which swept over a territory about a quarter of a mile in width and carried everything before it.

In a number of cases it is declared that loaded hay wagons which had been left standing in barns with the doors open, were lifted bodily and carried along by the tornado. The wagons being smashed and the hay scattered about.

Marshal Foch Welcomed

Gathering in London to Honor Great French General and Present Sword.

London. — Marshal Foch was given a most enthusiastic welcome by the city of London when, accompanied by General Weygand and other distinguished French generals, he drove in the state carriage from the Carlton hotel to the Guildhall to receive the honorary freedom of the city. The streets were gaily decorated. General Foch was received with loud and prolonged cheering and the playing of the Marseillaise when he entered the Guildhall, where a large and distinguished company, including Prince Arthur of Connaught, the French ambassador, Field Marshal Haig, Sir Henry Wilson, Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Right Hon. Messrs. Long and Barnes, and other members of the government were assembled.

The address conferring the freedom of the city described General Foch as a heroic general, a model for future generations of soldiers, and paid tribute to his brilliant part in the war, his stern sense of duty, patriotism and supreme knowledge of the science of war.

Acknowledging the freedom of the city and the sword of honor, Marshal Foch, speaking in French, paid a great tribute to the valor of the British soldiers, the skill of the British generals, especially General Haig, and also the wonderful work of the industrial classes of Britain in providing the allies with abundant guns and munitions.

Dealing with the great German offensive of 1918, he remarked that the British armies, though very exhausted, fought as brilliant a rearguard action as had ever been fought. (Cheers.)

He paid eloquent tribute to the magnificent qualities of the British and Dominion armies in the great counter-attack after August, 1918, and said that their dash and bravery were unsurpassable. They never stopped smashing the German war machine and would have gone through to the Meuse or the Rhine but for the armistice. (Loud cheers.)

Congress Is Peeved

Say Treaty With France Calls On U.S. to Step in Without Their Consent.

Washington. — The peace treaty with Germany was discussed by President Wilson with four more Republican senators, all of them understood to be unwilling to accept the League of Nations in its present form.

Both the senate and the committee had recessed over today and many senators went over for the first time the official text of the treaty with France, submitted for ratification by President Wilson. Although most of them reserved judgment, it became apparent that the treaty's ratification would be bitterly contested.

Two objections about which debate is expected to centre are that the treaty departs from the tradition of no entangling alliances, and that it violates the constitutional provision that congress alone can declare war.

Those who base their opposition on the latter ground declare that by promise to go to the aid of France immediately in case of an unprovoked attack on her from Germany, all future congresses would be deprived of their power to decide for war or peace whenever the treaty terms were invoked.

Proof Of Seditious Conspiracy

Letters Seized During Police Raids In Western Canada.

Winnipeg. — The Calgary Labor convention last March, at which the One Big Union was given form, was packed with "reds," as the members of the Socialist party of Canada are known in labor.

An official of the United Mine Workers of America, in a letter, suggested that "the only way we will ever get anywhere is by the use of force, and that the time is coming when there will be riots and petty little revolutions here and there all over the country." In mentioning the proposed demonstration in Toronto of 10,000 unemployed the writer said he thought that if these things could be organized to start in every town, city and village at one time, with a definite object in view of taking over the reins of government, "we would arrive all right."

R. B. Russell saw in the coming unemployment situation a "glorious opportunity to show the 'plug' that the only solution to the question is the situation in Russia."

A veritable flood of propaganda, including distribution of banned literature on Socialism and Bolshevism, was distributed by R. B. Russell and other members of the Socialist Party of Canada.

This is the substance of letters seized by the R.N.W.M.P. in Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg and read in court at the preliminary hearing of eight Labor leaders for seditious conspiracy.

Race Riots In Chicago

State Troops Established a Barred Zone About Three Miles Square.

Chicago. — Chicago streets are being patrolled by soldiers called out by Governor Lowden at the request of Mayor Thompson for the protection of life and property threatened by the race war, which for some days has terrorized the city.

The State troops established a barred zone about three miles square, embracing most of the colored residential district on the southside. In this zone they searched every person whom they met for weapons. No one could pass in or out without military permission. The district extended roughly from 122nd Street to 55th Street, north and south, and from Michigan boulevard to Wenworth avenue, east and west. This happened when riots in the colored district itself had somewhat subsided, when there was an alarm spread of disturbances outside. New York Central railroad officials reported all their trains being fired on.

Adjutant General Dickson, after an early evening trip through the threatened district, declared the situation was ominous, and his view was shared by the mayor's secretary, who accompanied him.

Hundreds of negroes appealed for protection. Incendiary attacks upon negro homes increased through the day and night. Negro leaders declared that many members of their race faced starvation because drivers of supply wagons feared to enter some parts of the black belt.

Demand For Harvest Help

Government Agent Says Men Hang Back From Harvest Work for Higher Pay.

Winnipeg. — Too many unemployed men are hanging back in the hope of getting $6 a day for harvest work, and having to work only two-thirds of the time for their money, was the declaration of J. A. Bowman, superintendent for the province of the employment service of Canada, when discussing the question of farm help. He expressed the belief that the $6 mark would not be approached, and added:

"If any relief assistance is offered next winter the first question should be, 'Did you respond to the appeal for farm help?' He added that returned men were prominent among the workers being sent to farms by the department.

Crop failures in parts of Saskatchewan have released men for work in Manitoba, said Mr. Bowman. On Thursday he was completing arrangements for the distribution of 400 to 600 men for that province. Approximately 10,000 workers are required for the harvest fields of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Victory Loan Success

London. — The recent British victory loan scheme amounted to £767,800,000, it was announced in the house of commons by J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer. This exceeds the amount previously announced by £59,800,000.

Thoughts travel fast, but some people's thoughts never travel far.

Want U.S. Papers Kept From Canada

Detroit Seat of Newspaper Attacks on Canadian Soldiers During War.

Windsor, Ont. — The entry into Canada at the port of Windsor of the Detroit Free Press, carrying another Costello article, so incensed the veterans that the executive of the Walkerville and Ford commands got together in a hurry and passed a resolution to use force if necessary to keep the paper from landing at this port.

The Border Cities' Liberty League learning that organized resistance no longer is a possibility but a certainty, dispatched a telegram to Sir Robert Borden protesting the government's delay in taking action, and stating "if publications containing further Costello articles or editorials alleging drunkenness, cowardice and immorality be allowed to pass, we, as returned soldiers of His Majesty the King are determined to remove the sheet by force from this part of the Dominion."

Royal Assent To Treaty

Will Be No Proclamation of Peace Until Three of the Allied Powers Have Ratified Pact.

London. — Royal assent was given to the German peace treaty and to the Anglo-French treaty, which thus become law.

Ottawa. — Although Great Britain's king has given royal assent to the peace treaty with Germany, there will be no proclamation of peace until three of the allied powers have ratified the pact. This, the Canadian government has asked Britain to delay until the Canadian parliament has taken action at the coming fall session. Therefore, the orders-in-council under the War Measures act will not be annulled until peace is officially "proclaimed." These include prohibition, racing, etc.

Russians Gain Victory

Captured Town of Kamishin on the Volga.

London. — General Denekine, the Russian commander, has gained an important victory over the Bolshevik and captured the town of Kamishin, on the Volga. Five thousand Bolshevik, nine guns and quantities of ammunition were also taken.

In making this announcement, the war office says that possession of Kamishin gives General Denekine a firmer hold on the river and his main objective over the advance on Saratov, threatening the Bolshevik communications with Astrakhan.

Kamishin was entered by the anti-Bolshevik troops on July 30, and the fleeing enemy was pursued twelve miles beyond the town.

Coal Shortage Will Be Serious

Canadian Railway Board Warns That Serious Outlook Cannot Be Exaggerated.

Montreal. — Immediate action is urged by the Canadian railway board in connection with next winter's supply of coal for Canada.

"The impending shortage is real, its seriousness cannot be exaggerated," said an official of the Canadian railway board.

"We are satisfied on that point and the railways of Canada are themselves acting in accordance with the advice here given. Rumors that the coal famine talk in the United States is a scheme of the mine owners to bring about higher prices, are not borne out by the facts."

Chinese Clash With Japanese

Washington. — Sixteen Japanese officers and men and three Japanese policemen were killed, and 17 Japanese soldiers more or less seriously wounded in a clash with Chinese troops at Kuangchengku, July 19, according to an official report received by the Japanese embassy here. The losses of the Chinese were not given.

The clash was said to have followed an assault on an employee of the South Manchuria Railway company by Chinese soldiers. The report said that the Chinese government expressed regret over the incident.

Kolchak Buying War Material

New York. — Representatives of Admiral Kolchak's Siberian government were among the heaviest purchasers here when $40,000,000 worth of surplus U.S. army textures were placed on the auction block by Captain A. A. Stewart, of the quartermaster's department. Total sales for the day, in which 750 buyers participated, amounted to $375,000, with Admiral Kolchak's men and representatives of the Colombian republic bidding for the lion's share.

Industrial Unrest Menaces Britain

Bulgarians Seek Easy Terms

Hope That the Way May Be Made Pleasant for Them.

Sofia, Bulgaria. — An atmosphere of uneasiness and uncertainty is discernible here with regard to the outcome of the mission in Paris of the Bulgarian peace delegates. Bulgaria's claims to the Dobruja and her aspirations as to Macedonia are still to the fore in discussion of the peace terms, and despite the hints of possible territorial losses, which have caused concern and brought out some bitter comment, there appears to be a general hope that justice, as it is viewed here, will be done Bulgaria in this respect, and that the questions at issue will be determined independently of her participation in the war on the side opposed to the allies.

Prominent spokesmen among the Bulgarians having given expression of strong desires to see peace brought about through the visit of the mission to Paris, together with the hope, as one of them said, that the terms would be "something that we can swallow." In these expressions both Great Britain and the United States are alluded to as friendly, but the belief in this friendship is varied with less certainty than previously. Utterances indicating dislike of the French are freely heard in the capital, which may be explained as due to the presence of French colonial troops there.

Yorkshire Miners Ignore Leaders

For the Moment the Deadlock Is Complete.

London. — Failure of the attempt made at Leeds in a conference of coal miners and their employers to end the coal strike, which has been in progress for some time, caused surprise and disappointment. The leaders of the miners refused to accept the government's formula to bring an end to the controversy or to be bound by the action of the Miners' federation declaring in favor of a return to work.

Therefore, for the moment, the deadlock is complete. No arrangement has been made for the resumption of the conference as far as is known and the outlook is regarded as serious.

French Bond Sale

Amount of Issue in View Totals $50,000,000.

Paris. — Louis Klotz, the minister of finance, has just concluded an arrangement with a group of United States bankers headed by J. P. Morgan and company for the sale in the New York market of French treasury bonds at sixty and ninety days, similar to the British bond now on the market.

The amount of the issue in view at present totals $50,000,000. The United States treasury department, it is said, was consulted regarding the arrangement and gave its consent to it.

U.S. Submarine and Two Men Lost

New London, Conn. — The U.S. submarine G-2, which is listed as an obsolete craft and used for experimental work, sank with open hatch in Long Island Sound, off Pleasure beach in Waterford Bay and two of its crew of eight were drowned. The other members of the crew, all of which were from the submarine base here, were rescued.

Peace Will Be Ratified This Month

Germans Buying Copper

New York. — Moderate quantities of refined copper have been bought for German manufacturing interests, one of the leading selling agencies here announced. Shipments have already been made and are expected to assume larger proportions. The financial arrangement connected with the purchase of the metal are not disclosed.

Women Get Vote

Helena, Mont. — The Montana state senate has ratified the federal suffrage amendment to the constitution by a vote of 38 to 1. The house unanimously ratified the amendment.

London. — General industrial unrest in Great Britain, which has been seething ever since the armistice, seems at the present hour to have reached a point which menaces the commerce of the country with at least temporary disaster. It is considered possible that it may mean the downfall of the Lloyd George government.

An immediate strike of the London police was decided on tonight at mass meetings held in various places. The grievance of the police is the bill before parliament reorganizing the department. This provides for the organization of a police union, but prohibits it from affiliating with labor unions and prohibits policemen from going out on strike under any circumstances, with heavy penalties.

The strikes of the past month have been serious enough, but they are merely symptomatic of the dissatisfaction which appears to prevail throughout the ranks of organized labor. Half a million Lancashire cotton operatives were idle for more than three weeks. Two hundred thousand Yorkshire miners have been on strike since July 20. The Liverpool dockers have paralyzed shipping there for two weeks, holding up hundreds of ships of all sizes. The bakers have decided to strike on Saturday and now the London police are about to go on their second strike.

The worst movement of all from the government standpoint is the threat of "direct action" by the triple alliance of railwaymen, miners and transport workers. These powerful unions are taking a secret ballot to decide whether they shall use the weapon of a general strike to try to enforce their political program of the nationalization of the mines and railways and to end conscription and withdrawal from all participation in all Russian affairs.

In these circumstances, words of revolution and Bolshevism crop up in the newspapers and are used by conservative men to describe the present movement. Some of the newspapers are asking where the money comes from to finance all the propaganda being put forth.

The government regards the police strike as the most dangerous feature of the prevalent unrest. It may prove a crucial test of the labor campaign. The home secretary, E. Shortt, has declared that the government is firm and will consider no compromise or yielding to the policemen's demands to have the status of an ordinary labor union.

New Dominion Loan

Sir Thomas White Says Last Victory Loan Meant Sale of Crops.

Ottawa. — Sir Thomas White states that since September last credits to Great Britain aggregating $167,000,000 had been furnished by the government for the purchase of last year's wheat crop. In addition about $25,000,000 had been supplied for the purchase of other foodstuffs and over $12,000,000 for timber.

It was last year's Victory loan which enabled Canada to grant the extension credits necessary for the purchase of these products, upon whose sale the prosperity of the entire Dominion, agricultural, industrial, commercial and financial, so largely depends. The success of the Dominion loan this fall is regarded as of vital importance to Canada to enable her to meet demobilization expenses and also to provide in part the money for the sale of our wheat and other products.

It isn't the frame that matters; it's the picture within it.
